THE WASHED-OUT
FEEL WHEN YOU
JUST SAW TART
The washed-out feel of a shirt is a subtle but important detail. It's the result of a process called "stone washing," where shirts are treated with pumice stones to soften the fabric and create a lived-in, worn-in appearance. This process also helps to break down the fibers, making the shirt more comfortable and breathable. The result is a shirt that feels like it's been through a long journey, ready to be worn and loved.

THE DODGERS
& TART
The history of the Dodgers is a fascinating one, rooted in the early days of baseball. The team's name is a nod to the New York City neighborhood of Brownsville, where the team was founded in 1883. Over the years, the team has moved several times, but the name "Dodgers" has remained a symbol of the city's rich baseball heritage. The team's success on the field is a testament to the skill and dedication of its players, who have left an indelible mark on the sport.
