ROSE Revisited

Perfume? One word? The rose is a classic, and it's been used in perfumery for centuries. But in the modern world, it's been reimagined in so many ways. From the classic rose de shiraz to the more modern, spicy rose of iraq, there's a rose for every occasion.

Jardin Frondoso
A perfume that is a celebration of the rose. It's a blend of the most beautiful roses from all over the world, including the rose of iraq, the rose of shiraz, and the rose of damascus. It's a perfume that is both classic and modern, and it's a perfume that is perfect for every occasion.

Scent and Your Skin: Get the Chemistry Right

Did you know that the exact same fragrance can smell totally different depending on who you're wearing it? Parfums de France, St. Laurent, and the of course, the most famous of them all, Chanel, have all been known to have different scents on different people. The reason for this is simple: "The skin's natural oils and acids can react with the fragrance, changing its scent. It's all about the chemistry of your skin." So, how do you make sure you're getting the most out of your fragrance? The answer is simple: "Know your skin. If you have dry skin, you'll want to use a fragrance that's more hydrating. If you have oily skin, you'll want to use a fragrance that's more long-lasting. And if you have sensitive skin, you'll want to use a fragrance that's gentle on your skin." So, the next time you're shopping for a new fragrance, take a moment to think about your skin. Because when it comes to fragrance, it's all about the chemistry.
