Rejuvenate your face and body in minutes with these exfoliating techniques.

The secret result from bright skin and fine a fling or two about stress, just like water, leaves tend to shed dead skin cells to reveal the fresh, younger looking skin that lies beneath. Although we can't control cell turnover, we can control the way we exfoliate. With the right products, you can control the way you exfoliate. The right products can help you control the way you exfoliate. The right products can help you control the way you exfoliate. The right products can help you control the way you exfoliate.

Blushing Bride

A subtle shade of rose, peach or beige can transform your cheeks from pale to glowing in minutes. In classic shades, blushes change your look, brighten your complexion and appear to lift your features. The secret is in the way you apply it. The secret is in the way you apply it.
