LONDON CALLING

On July 27, the first athletes from around the world gather in London to compete in the 2012 Summer Olympics. While you hope not to have to witness the sporting controversy directed by filmmaker Doris Böyer, you can show your support on the side of the athletes with sport-inspired styles. Ready to indulge your inner Olympian? On your mark, get set... go!

Days of Wine & Roses

An August, though known for its heat, is a perfect month of the approaching autumn. With its shimmering glass, slightly cooler nights and casual, elegant clothing and accessories in shades of burgundy and crimson, even its late-summer remnants are being formed, fashion has already begun to herald the changing colors of fall.

There's no need to show restraint when you can wear a dash of color. Whether your favorite hue may be any strong, saturated shade from the sun-kissed color wheel is bound to keep your mood as bright as the summer sun.
